

Hey,

Just wanted to send you this friendly reminder about our call coming up.

I'm SUPER EXCITED to talk to you and help you build your business.

You need to understand - I usually say "no" to more people than I actually say "yes" to helping on the call.

I only help people who are cool and action takers like yourself :)
Before we get on the call I wanted to just explain a few things.

#1: Make sure you are in a quiet place during the call.
NOT driving, in the airport, at a coffee shop, kids sporting event or in the mall.

I take your time VERY SERIOUS and when we're on the call mapping out your future - You have my full 100% attention. I'll be in a super quiet place where I can fully devote myself to YOU!

So please make sure you are in a quiet place where you can focus on our call and building your amazing future.

#2 - If you need to cancel or change the call time - you can do so by clicking the link in this email.
If you "no show" I have to move on and will not rebook the call with you ever again.

#3 - I'll be calling from my cell phone, so you might not recognize the number. Unless we're meeting on Skype because you live internationally. Then you should connect with me there beforehand at Skype ID: tara_om.
We will just do an audio call.

I'll be calling at the exact time of our call - so if you see a number you don't recognize - it is probably me calling.

Talk to you soon!!

XO

Tara Mullarkey

P.S. Please make sure you check out this page before our call. On it you will find a video where share a bit of my story and how Ive gotten to where I am.

As well - you will find 2 important case studies that will help you A LOT! Don't miss the note from Sara who went from $500 to $5k a month in her biz. It's really cool especially because she was just a beginner coach and wasnt sure if this was really possible for her!
